Reported Clue to a Dreadful Murder Mystery in Lewis County.

A special from Vanceburg says considerable excitement was created at Stone City by the finding of a suit of bloody clothes under a barn close to the scene of the Carr-Evans tragedy, which occurred last September.

It is still remembered by the citizens of Lewis county as one of the most horrible crimes ever committed in Northeastern Kentucky, in which three persons—Carr, his wife and sister—were found by the neighbors stretched out on the floor literally hacked to pieces with a corn knife.

It has always been a mystery as to who committed the murder. The evidence now points to old man Evans as the author of the crime. Officers left Vanceburg yesterday morning for Stone City to arrest him.

The following was received by Rev. J. E. Wright, Pastor of the M. E. Church, South, on a postal card:

GLEN ELK, W. Va., April 19th, 1892.
Dear Sir: We write this to learn the whereabouts of E. J. Johnson. He is supposed to be living in Lewis county, Ky., and a "traveling" or "local" preacher in your church. His son is dead, and left some property without an heir. Yours,
S. J. ROWSEY.

This is the second communication Mr. Wright has received.
